When APCO Institute receives your request for classroom materials and before any order is filled, the instructor name that appears on the form will be checked to verify certificate status. The order will not be filled if an Agency Instructor's certificate has expired or been suspended or revoked.

In order to avoid extra shipping charges, classroom materials should be ordered at least 21 days prior to the start date of the class. All orders submitted to APCO Institute for class materials must be accompanied by payment in the form of an original purchase order, check or credit card number.

APCO INSTITUTE AGENCY INSTRUCTOR CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

OBTAINING STUDENT CERTIFICATES OF COMPLETION

The Agency Instructor must send the following items to APCO Institute for processing within ten days of conclusion of the class:

- A typed affidavit of training listing each student by name, total course attendance hours, and manual certification number (sticker removed from the inside cover of the student manual and attached to the affidavit of training). The affidavit of training must also indicate the Agency Instructor's name and Instructor certificate number. Students absent for more than 10% of the scheduled classroom hours will be required to retake the class.

All APCO Institute Agency Instructors will grade the student tests. Students must achieve a test score of 80% in order to receive an APCO Institute certificate of completion. APCO Institute will generate the course certificates based on the information contained in the above-listed paperwork.

Any printing errors that result from incomplete or improper information submitted by the Agency Instructor will require the payment of a processing fee for the corrected, replacement certificate. All course certificates issued will be returned to the Agency Instructor for distribution to the students.

EMD course affidavits of training must be accompanied by proof of completion of a formal basic telecommunicator training program and a completed grade report for each student showing "pass" or "fail" for the practical skills portion of the EMD test along with a copy of each student's current CPR certification.

AGENCY INSTRUCTOR RECERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

All APCO Institute Agency Instructors are required to recertify every two years. An APCO Institute Instructor certificate is valid for two years. Each certificate has an expiration date printed in the lower right hand corner. In order to recertify, you must comply with all recertification requirements.

Recertification is a simple process based on accumulated hours in two venues – teaching/instructing and continuing dispatch education. To recertify an APCO Institute Instructor must perform 24 hours (minimum of 12 hours per year) of teaching/instructing and receive 24 hours (minimum of 12 hours per year) of continuing dispatch education over the two-year recertification period. Recertification covers all Instructor certificates you hold. If you accumulate the minimum hours and submit the proper paperwork and documentation, all Instructor certificates you currently hold will be recertified.

AGENCY INSTRUCTOR RECERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS, continued Accumulating Hours for Teaching/Instructing

You must accumulate a minimum of 12 hours per year through teaching/instructing for a total of 24 hours over the two-year recertification period. One hour is equal to one hour of classroom instruction. Instruction may be in the form of formal classes or informal in-service type training.

Teaching APCO Institute courses, teaching college or academy courses, conducting in-service training and presenting conference seminars are examples of activities that qualify for teaching/instructing recertification points.

Agency Instructors must report the classes taught during each calendar year of the recertification period on the Continuing Education Reporting Form. Although you are not required to attach documentation for teaching/instructing, you must retain all records or other official forms attesting to the training conducted. APCO Institute reserves the right to audit all requests for recertification. In the event of an audit, you will need to produce documentation verifying all entries on the Continuing Education Reporting Form.

Accumulating Hours for Continuing Dispatch Education

You must accumulate a minimum of 12 hours per year through continuing dispatch education for a total of 24 hours over the two-year recertification period. One hour is equal to one hour of classroom instruction. Instruction may be in the form of formal classes or informal in-service type training. Attending APCO Institute training courses, college courses, in-service training and conference seminars are examples of activities that qualify for continuing dispatch education recertification points. Subject matter for continuing education should be in the topical areas of adult education techniques, teaching methodology and public safety communications.

Agency Instructors must report the classes taken during each calendar year of the recertification period on the recertification Continuing Education Reporting Form. Although you are not required to attach documentation for continuing dispatch education, you must retain all records or other official forms attesting to the training received. APCO Institute reserves the right to audit all requests for recertification. In the event of an audit, you will need to produce the documentation verifying all entries on the recertification Continuing Education Reporting Form.

Agency Instructors who fail to complete and report teaching/instructing and continuing education hours within forty-five (45) days of the expiration of their Instructor certificate will be considered "inactive". Agency Instructors considered "inactive" are not able to submit documentation requesting certificates of completion for students who have been taught with APCO Institute curriculum. Inactive Agency Instructors are also not allowed to purchase APCO Institute course materials.

Inactive Agency Instructors may apply for reinstatement as an "active" instructor by remedying in a timely manner the problem(s) that caused the switch to inactive status. Depending on the circumstances, the remedy may include retaking an APCO Institute Instructor course. Each request for reinstatement to active status is evaluated on a case-by-case basis by the Institute Director. Note: The National Standard for EMD requires EMD Instructors and EMD's that allow their certification to lapse more than 12 months to retake the course they are seeking recertification in.
